ABOUT BAR

BUILDING ALABAMA REINVESTMENT (BAR) fosters dialogue and partnerships between community and economic development organizations and financial services providers.

BAR works with community leaders, policymakers, and financial institutions to champion fairness in banking, housing, and business.

BAR seeks to support, create and implement long-term solutions, which include providing tools and resources to build the community and individual economic well-being.

M I S S I O N

Building Alabama Reinvestment's mission is to increase equal access to credit, capital, and banking services for low- to moderate-income communities, in accordance with the Community Reinvestment Act.

BUILDING ALABAMA REINVESTMENT COMMUNITY COUNCIL

Building Alabama Reinvestment Community Council (BARCC) provides a forum for collaboration of nonprofits and financial institutions to successfully engage and work toward common goals.

BARCC is a combination of BAR members who represent nonprofit organizations that serve low- to moderate-income (LMI) communities, banks, community investment officers, and others who are engaged in community economic empowerment.

BARCC plays a vital role in helping nonprofits build capacity.

BARCC is a valuable asset to banks that participate in it by providing an avenue to deliver their Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) activities. CRA has encouraged banks to open new branches, provide expanded services, and make a variety of community development loans and investments. Also, CRA has urged banks to offer substantial commitments to state and local governments and community development organizations to increase lending to underserved segments of local economies and populations.

BARCC allows candid and confidential dialogue to take place among all stakeholders.
